

FIRE-PROOF DWELLING-HOUSES, &c.
—The important desideratum is secured by the use of FOX PATENT FIRE-PROOF PLASTER AND CEILING which is put on houses, as well as on all other buildings, descriptions of public buildings, warehouses, manufactories, &c. The attention of the public is solicited to this valuable invention by the use of which the ravages of fire are effectually prevented.
The expense does not exceed that of the ordinary mode of construction; and the proprietors of the Patent are prepared to furnish every information and assistance requisite for its adoption, and guarantee its successful application to old as well as to new buildings.
Where the Patent may be obtained on application to the Proprietors, Messrs FOX and BARRETT, Leicester Chambers, 65, Leicester square.
